

Volunteer Trail Days 2013

Saturday July 13th 8:30 am

Trail: Ammonoosuc Ravine Trail

GPS Coordinates to Trailhead: 44 16' 01"N 71 21' 43"W

Join volunteers and Forest Service trails staff for a work day on the dramatic and historic Ammonoosuc Ravine Trail on Mt. Washington. Participants will be helping build and reconstruct portions of the trail that were affected by Tropical Storm Irene in 2011. Work will involve moving rocks and heavy materials, building rock trail structures and drainages, and general improvement of the trail surface.

Meet at the USFS Trailhead off Base Rd. in Bretton Woods.

Saturday August 24th 8:30 am

Trail: Edmands Path

GPS Coordinates to Trailhead: 44 14' 57"N 71 23' 30"W

Join volunteers and Forest Service trails staff for a work day on the historic Edmands Path on Mt. Eisenhower, originally designed and built by legendary trail builder J. Rayner Edmands in 1909. Participants will be helping build and reconstruct portions of the trail that have been in disrepair. Work will involve moving rocks and heavy materials, building rock trail structures and drainages, and general improvement of the trail surface.

Meet at the USFS Trailhead off of Mt. Clinton Rd. in Bretton Woods.

Saturday July 20th 9:00am - New Hampshire Trails Day

Trail: Kettles Path – Waterville Valley

GPS Coordinates to Trailhead: N 43.9662 W -71.5137

USFS / WVAIA Volunteer Trails Day

Join the Forest Service trails staff and the Waterville Valley Athletic and Improvement Association (WVAIA) in beginning to take action on the new Greeley Ponds / Flume Brook trail realignment by helping to build a new trail relocation up to the Kettles off of Livermore Road. This project is in support of the Greeley Ponds and Flume Brook Trail Repair Project. This is a great opportunity to learn trail building skills and build new trail.

Meet at the Livermore Trailhead in Waterville Valley.

Saturday September 28th 9:00am - National Public Lands Day

Trail: Rumney Rocks Climbing Area

GPS Coordinates to Trailhead: N 43.8022 W -71.5137

Various trail projects at Rumney Rocks Climbing Area in partnership with the Rumney Climbers Association. Participate in the stewardship of this unique world class climbing destination by volunteering for the day contributing to the ongoing trail stewardship work within and up to the cliffs.
